In Commemoration of of the Virtues of General WASHINGTON, delivered by the Rev. JOHN WEYLIE, on the 22nd of February, at the Parish of Frederick, and published at the request of the Audience.

Extract from an Advertisement prefixed to the Discourse.

"That the benefaction of that great man "(Gen. Washington) to the Academy of "Alexandria should, in so short a time, have "reared up a young man capable of emulating "the best discourses delivered on that day, "must give pleasure to all friends to merit "and unprotected Genius—The citizens of "Alexandria, for whose immediate benefit it "was created, must feel in a particular manner. They are all acquainted with the narrow circumstances of the Parents of the Author of the following Sermon, and know "what must have been his situation, but for "such an institutin. As no human condition is "exempt from the most painful reverses of fortune, it must be a comfortable reflection to "the richest, that such provision is made for "their disasters as may console them in the "deepest gloom—To those among them who "are patents, no more need be said."

FROM EUROPE.

NEW-YORK, MAY 26, 3 A. M.

At a late hour last night the brig Happy Couple arrived at this port in 43 days from Hamburg, by which vessel we have received Hamburg papers to the 8th of April. At present, we have no more time than will admit of copying the following Intelligence. To morrow the details shall be given in full.

DONAUESCHINGEN, MARCH 20.

On the 17th, the univerſally eſteemed Archduke left his head quarters. On the 16th he took leave of his army by the following addreſs:

"On account of the precarious ſtate of my health, I begged his Imperial majeſty to be relieved in the command of the army, which he has been pleaſed to confer on General Baron Kray. While I acquaint the army with this change, I return my warmeſt thanks to the generals, officers and troops, for the bravery which they have evinced at all times, under my command, in the moſt diſtinguiſhed manner. Much as I lament, on account of my health, to ſeparate from comrades, whom on every occaſion I found to be brave ſoldiers, and faithful to his Imperial majeſty in the higheſt degree, and whom I eſteem and love; as much muſt I entreat them to perſevere in their attachment and fidelity to his imperial majeſty, with ſimilar zeal, under the command of the General of artillery, Baron Kray.

"Henceforth all reports, official ſtatements, &c. are to be directed to General Baron Kray, to whom I have this day reſigned the command of the army.

(Signed)
The Archduke CHARLES, F. M.

General Kray afterwards publiſhed the following general orders to the army:

Donaueſchingen, March 18.

"By order of his Imperial Majeſty, I have taken the chief command of this army, which the declining health of his Royal Highneſs would not allow him to continue.

I ſhould want courage, after a predeceſſor ſo univerſally revered, to execute H. majeſty's orders, was I not convinced of the diſtinguiſhed ſpirit which animates the whole army, and which aſſures me that every member of that great body would feel itſelf called upon, from its own impulſe, under any commander, to continue its exertions, by ſacrificing all its powers, with that glorious zeal which we owe to our moſt gracious monarch, and to the honor of our ſtation.

(Signed)
KRAY, General of Artillery.

LOWER ELBE, APRIL 5.

The Archduke Charles is arrived at Ulm Private letters from Vienna aſſure, that his royal highneſs will remain in the neighbourhood of the theatre of war.

It ſeems at length confirmed, that the Prince Suwarrow died ſuddenly on the 2d ult. on his eſtate near Kobrin.

The French are endeavoring, with might and main, to raiſe ten or twelve millions of livres from the merchants of Holland, whom they ſuppoſe at a loſs what to do with their capital, ſince they have been ſhut out from trade and navigation, by the bleſſings of French liberty!

HAGUE, APRIL 8.

They write from Calais, under the 26th of March, that the flags of truce from Dover had increaſed very much in the paſt fortnight, and that citizen Otto, who had for ſome weeks been expected to return, ſtill remained in England, which animated their hopes that a ſecret negociation was on foot between the Engliſh government and Buonaparte.—Many are of opinion, that one of the French princes will be brought to ſucceed the French Conſul.

Letters from Poſen, in South Pruſſia, of the 28th of March, ſtate, that the intelligence of the DEATH of Prince Italiſkio Count Suwarrow Rimniſkio, is finally confirmed by two letters from Mielnik, ſix miles from Breize, of the 11th and 15th ult. He died ſuddenly on the 21 of March, at his eſtates near Kobrin.

LONDON, APRIL 1.

A letter from Deal, of the 29th inſt. ſays: "General Coot had taken lodgings here, to ſuperintend the embarkation of the troops, and this day he ſet out for Margate, where the 40th regiment is now embarking. The officers are nearly all on board their ſhips, as they expect an order to ſail, either to-morrow or Sunday. It is not certain whether the 52d Regiment goes on this expedition."

We learn that the ſailing of the expedition was hourly expected at that place. The ſhips having on board the troops, were under ſailing orders, with their fore top ſails looſed, and the officers on board the different ſhips, were not permitted to go on ſhore.

On Saturday, Mrs. Parrot, a lady of reſpectability, was tried at Taunton aſſiſes for ſtealing a card of lace. Her huſband, independent of great expectations, has an eſtate of 3000l. and the lady herſelf moved in the firſt circles at Bath. She had been confined in Ilcheſter goal for five months: and was conſtantly attended by her huſband, who even declared that he would accompany her to Botany Bay, ſhould the event of her trial render it neceſſary. After a trial of five hours, ſhe was acquitted.

The following are the particulars of the manner in which his Majeſty's ſhip Danage got in poſſeſſion of the French. On the 17th ult. cruizing off the coaſt of France, moſt of the officers being below part of the crew began to mutiny, the moſt active of whom were eleven French. men, who had been captured on board the Burdelais French privateer, but afterwards entered into Engliſh ſervice. They were headed by an Engliſhman of the name of Jackſon, who, by a private ſignal brought moſt of the crew to their aſſiſtance. The maſter, who had the watch upon deck, was knocked down, and made priſoner, and ſteps were taken to ſecure all the officers, reſiſtance being made by them, the crew brought guns to bear on the cabin, into which they fired ſeveral ſhots, before they could accompliſh their deſign. Capt. Lord Proby and the maſter are ſaid to be much wounded. As ſoon as the mutineers had gained poſſeſſion of the ſhip, they made all the ſail they could, and ran her into Brest.

PARIS, MARCH 28.

As a new campaign ſeems now unavoidable, the inhabitants of all the frontier towns have received orders to place lights in their windows, in caſe of any alarm during the night. Buonaparte's departure for Dijon is now to be fixed for the 12th of April.

LOWER ELBE, APRIL 7.

Agreeably to the Court Gazette of the 29th ult. General Kray and the Marquis de Caſteller had arrived at the head quarters, at Donaueſchingen, on the 17th. The archduke's farewell to the army alſo appears in this gazette.

Under the head of "Italy," it reports:—"The French appear to be making every preparation for opening the campaign in Italy; according to advices from Chamberry, of the 21 of March, the troops were gone from their winter quarters, and had advanced towards Mount Onis, to aſſemble their reinforcements in the neighbourhood of Pignerol. The pay of the troops in arrear had been partly diſcharged, in order to quiet, in ſome meaſure, their impatience.

"In all the ſorties and foraging parties, which the French have made from Gavi to Montenero, they always have been repulſed with loſs, without having ſucceeded in their deſigns.

"In the diſtrict of Genoa, the riſing of the inhabitants againſt the French, and againſt the city of Genoa, becomes every day more manifeſt. Againſt the inhabitants of Fontana Buona, who gave the firſt ſignal of revolt, the French had undertaken a ſecond cruſade, in which they were repulſed with the loſs of many men. Meanwhile, general Maſſena continues his proclamations and promiſes of money, proviſions, and reinforcements, from the interior, to keep alive the hopes of his troops.

"The Italians incorporated with the French army, are ſuſpected, and ſent to France.

"From the reports of ſeveral fugitives from Genoa, we learn many diſtreſſing facts relative to that unfortunate city.—The inſurgents of Fonta Buona ſcour as far as the very gates, and whoever can eſcape, flies from famine.

"Thoſe Italian authors who, to pleaſe the French, ſcoffed at religion on all occaſions, and who fled to Nice, among whom were the revolutionary heralds, Parro, Salvadore, Galli, &c. had been deſerted by the French, and periſhed in the greateſt miſery."

Nothing of importance has yet taken place between the armies of Italy and on the Rhine. On the 31ſt ult. the Auſtrians advanced from the Hochſt to Wickert, killed 6 of the enemy, and took 11 priſoners. The French appear to be drawing a part of their army from Switzerland to Italy, where they are inferior to the Auſtrians; yet there they opened the campaign by ſeveral partial attacks. The firſt hoſtilities on the Rhine were begun by the Auſtrians.

The Engliſh mail of the 1ſt inſtant brings us the official details from Admirals Keith and Nelſon, and from Sir Sidney Smith, which we have in part extracted and abridged. The capitulation of the French in Egypt ſeems not to have given the moſt ample ſatisfaction to the Britiſh Court. It is imputed chiefly to the imperiouſneſs of the Grand Vizier and the ſubtlety of the French Generals not to the exalted talents of Sir Sidney Smith, that the 8,000 French troops have been ſuffered to be conveyed home. From theſe diſpatches, it is pretty evident that the advanced guards of the Grand Vizier, although they amounted to the number of 12 000 men, would not have ſucceeded in taking fort El Ariſch, but for the powerful aſſiſtance of a few Engliſh marines. Government had ſent off advices to the Mediterranean, inſtructive of the conduct to be purſued by the Engliſh Commanders in caſe of their falling in with the Turkiſh tranſports, with the French, on their return from Egypt.

The prolonged election of a Pope is at length terminated. A Cardinal of worth and merit (whoſe pretenſions were hitherto not generally known) has been elevated to the Chair of St. Peter, which ſeems to have cauſed univerſal ſatisfaction. The Vienna letters ſtate, that his Holineſs has taken the title of Pius VII.

BOSTON, MAY 22.

It is but a few months ſince we were ſo unhappy, as to announce the death of the friend and father of his country, the illuſtrious WASHINGTON. Not a year has elapſed ſince the people of this Commonwealth were called into deep and univerſal mourning, by the loſs of the late amiable and excellent Governor SUMNER.—Again, are we called to wear the ſable badges of grief, on occaſion of the death of HIS HONOR MOSES GILL, ESQUIRE, Lieutenant Governor and Commander in Chief of the Commonwealth of Maſſachuſetts, which took place on the 20th inſt. in the 67th year of his age. Having riſen gradually to affluence and diſtinction, he died in the full poſſeſſion of the confidence and eſteem of his fellow citizens, for their ſuffrages at the laſt election, almoſt unanimouſly called him to continue in the ſtation which he has ſo many years held.—Honored by the people, beloved by his friends and ſurrounded with all which makes life valuable; he ſeemed to have arrived at the ſummit of human felicity, but death, inexorable death, arreſted him; it put to the teſt the ſtrength of the religious principles, which he had adopted; the trial ſucceeded, and he died in peace.—Let his immediate connexions, let the great and the honorable, let the people whom for a year paſt he has wiſely and judiciouſly governed, learn the uncertainty of human life and the vanity of human greatneſs. And while thoſe who ſeem to be pillars in our government, are taken away and crumble to duſt, let us place our truſt in the God of our Fathers, who is the ſame yeſterday, to day and forever.

COMMUNICATION.

Several paragraphs have appeared in the papers, purporting to be extracts of letters to New York and Salem, calculated to prejudice the public mind againſt the Preſident for diſplacing the Secretary of State—the unfairneſs of which publications muſt be obvious to every impartial American. "If the Preſident thinks it his duty to remove an officer, there is no tribunal eſtabliſhed, to whom he is to ſubmit his reaſons. The Senate may negative a new nomination, but they cannot interfere with a removal. The adminiſtration of the Preſident, and the whole tenor of his public life are ſufficient pledges that no ſuch ſtep would be taken by him, unleſs called for by the beſt intereſts of the country.

RICHMOND, MAY 27.

The Circuit Court of the United States for the diſtrict of Virginia, commenced its ſeſſion on Friday laſt at the Capitol.—James Thompſon Callender was preſented by the Grand Jury as the author of a certain falſe and libellous publication, entitled, "The Proſpect before Us;" which was deemed highly calculated to produce ſerious conſequences—tending to impregnate the minds of the people with jealouſy and hatred towards the Preſident and government of the United States. A true bill being found againſt him—the court conſequently iſſued a warrant to arreſt the ſaid J. T. Callender, and bring him before the court to ſtand his trial.

Since writing the above, we are informed that the Marſhal of the diſtrict, who went in purſuit of him to Peterſburg, on Saturday laſt, (where he has been for ſome days) has returned without being able to accompliſh his errand—Some particular friend perhaps having the preceding evening communicated the news to him with all poſſible diſpatch.

NEW-YORK, MAY 26.

By a gentleman direct from Paris we learn, that our Envoys had been ſeveral days on the work of negociation; but a ſhort ſuſpenſion had taken place on account of the indiſpoſition of Mr. Murray—Every thing is ſaid to have gone on well

Buſineſs at Hamburg was recovering—few failures occur.

We have the treaty between the French and Batavian Republics.

Extract of a letter, dated

Port Republican, 22 April 1800.

"You will have heard from the Cape of the revolution that lately happened there, which has completely ſuſpended the Commiſſary Roume. We are perfectly quiet here, and nothing new ſince the taking of Jacquemel. The Boſton frigate, it is ſaid, will ſoon return; ſhe is already replaced on the ſtation by the Trumbull ſloop of war, which takes this convoy.

"It will be well to caution our countrymen againſt coming into this Bite without convoy, or being well armed; for the danger is conſiderable, from the barges of Rigaud. The Sloop of War will probably be at the Mole every fortnight, (the 10th and 25th of each month) but of this I ſhould ſuppoſe notice has been given."

The following is an extract of a letter from G. Croſs, Eſquire, commander of the U. States frigate John Adams, to R. V. Morris, Eſq. dated Baſſaterre Roads, April 16, 1800.

"On the 3d inſt. the ſouth point of Martinico bearing W. half and St. Lucie S. W. diſtance 9 leagues, after a chaſe of four hours, I captured a French privateer ſchr. named La Jaſon, having 50 men and 8 carriage guns, 6 of which ſhe hove overboard during the chaſe. She is a new ſchooner and coppered to light water mark, completely fitted &c.

"On the 22d ult. I recaptured the brig Hannibal from Tobago, taken the night before by a French privateer named Le Preſident Tout, and on the day following we retook the brig Atlantic, from Demerara, prize to the ſame privateer, and only 20 hours in poſſeſſion."

"A letter from R. V. Morris, of the Adams, to the Secretary of the Navy, dated Baſſaterre Road, St. Chriſtophers, April 24, ſtates his arrival there with a convoy of 24 ſail from Martinique; the two recaptured privateers, l'Heureuſe Rencontre and General Maſſena, have been driven on ſhore in a gale of wind and injured ſo much as to be unfit to ſend to America.

The United States brig Pickering, has captured l'Active French privateer of Guadaloupe, of 12 guns and 62 men.

The United States ſhip Merrimack, recaptured the American brig Ann, from New Haven to Martinique.

Alexandria, May 31.

Arrived here yesterday the brig George Washington, captain Chunn, from Barbados. The following articles are extracted from the Barbados Mercury, received by the arrival above mentioned.

BRIDGE TOWN, APRIL 8.

There is no blessing for some time received that demands more unfeigned gratitude than the recent one of Rain, which has, as it were, saved us from famine and pestilential disease, the natural consequence of drought.

The crop at Demarara, we understand, is abundant, and no vessels to convey it to England.

An entertainment was lately given at Martinique by the Mercantile body to the commanders in chief unrivalled by Eastern magnificence—the cost per Man £ 13 10 0 that currency—no small proof of Prosperity!!!

APRIL 22.

Yesterday noon an alarm was spread over the Island and in the Evening the greatest part of the expected Cork fleet arrived; the ships for this port, we understand, are, the Adelphi, the Dominica Packet and the Ark; the former arrived last night and the two latter are now to the leeward.

Our correspondent at Martinique informs us that a Royalist, commanding a small battery near St. Pierre, lately brought to a small boat with 7 men, who had escaped from Fort-Royal Prison, and who after ordering them to prepare for another world, shot them sans ceremonie.

In consequence of which a proclamation had been issued at Guadeloupe closely to confine all the English that in future may be taken and to enforce the Lex talionis on all Royalist Prisoners two of whom had already suffered.

We have been favoured with the perusal of an account of an engagement between the U. S. frigate Constellation of 36 guns, and a National frigate of 54 guns in which Captain Truxton of the former signalized himself for his bravery and skill in manœuvering.

FOR THE COLUMBIAN MIRROR.

MR. PRICE,

I wish to call the attention of the Citizens to a subject, which appears to me to require their immediate interposition. A pot-house has been lately erected, nearly in the centre of the improved part of the Court House Square: it is surrounded on all sides by wooden buildings, some of which are within three or four feet of the blaze of the oven. Connected as it is, and exposed to every wind that may blow, a terrible conflagration must be nightly expected, as long as the evil is permitted to exist.

D.

A letter from Lieut. Shaw of the United States schooner enterprize, dated St. Thomas, May 2, contains the following information:—

April 2, Boarded the schr. Polly, of Charleston, bound to Jamaica, lat. 21 35, long. 67 4.

7th. Boarded the United States frigate Constellation, capt. Talbot, on a cruise.

9th. Spoke the U. S. sloop of war Herald.

13th. Spoke the U. S. schooner Experiment, Lieut. Maley on a cruize—had a French prize in tow.

14th. Spoke the United States' brig Augusta, lieut. M'Elroy, on a cruize.

20th. Spoke U. S. sloop of war Connecticut, capt. Tryon on a cruize.

Same day, boarded the sloop Minerva, of New York, capt. Hannefeld, bound to Curacoa, S. Croix bearing S. eight leagues.

The Enterprize was to sail from St. Thomas the day on which the above letter is dated.

On the 23d April, in lat. 15 45 N. long. 66 W. Lt. Shaw had a severe engagement with a brig mounting 18 guns, and well manned, which they afterwards thought to be a Spanish packet belonging to the Havannah. The crew of the Enterprize behaved with much spirit and address, none of her hands were killed; and but little injury done to her rigging.

On Monday the 12th inst. the 10th U. States regiment, commanded by Col. Thomas Moore, which had been stationed at Carlisle (Pennsylvania) during the winter, marched for Harper's Ferry.

(Phi. Gax.)

From the great prospect of a fine harvest, the remains of the last crop is shipping in abundence from almost every one of our principal sea ports.

We can scarcely be sufficiently thankful to that kind Providence, which twice in seven years, has enabled us to prevent famine in Europe, and thereby added several millions to the circulating medium of our country.

(Phil. Gaz.)

A report is generally prevalent, that the fellow who nightly prowls our streets in search of defenceless females, has been detected. We regret that the report is without foundation. He is not yet taken, and from correct information, we can state, that so far from being even intimidated by the measures that are pursued for his apprehension, he every evening continues to attack unprotected females wherever he can find them. Several ladies who have been stabbed by him, nearly agree in the following description of him. He is about five feet nine or ten inches in height, stout made, is dressed in blue trowsers and round jacket of the same colour, and some times wears a white hat. The instrument which we some days ago stated he had left in a lady's back, proves not to be a shoemaker's but a sadler or harness maker's awl, and has the appearance of having been used. It is now in the possession of the Editor of this paper, and will be shewn to any one desirous of seeing it, as possibly it may lead to the detection of this pest of society. (Ibid.)

Extract of a letter from Liverpool, dated the 12th March, 1800.

"We deem it proper to inform you, that the following Resolutions have been proposed in the House of Commons, by a Committee the whole House, and that it is expected an act will be immediately passed in order to give them effect:

"Resolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that whenever the average prices of Wheat and fine wheaten Flour, ascertained and published in the London Gazette, under the authority of any act or acts of Parliament, shall be less than ninety shillings per quarter* of Wheat or sack† of wheaten Flour, respectively, there shall be given on every quarter of Wheat, and on every barrel of fine wheaten Flour, which shall be imported into Great Britain from any port of Europe south of Cape Finisterre, or from any port in the Mediterranean or in Africa, or from any of his majesty's colonies in America, or the United States, before the first day of October, 1800, a bounty equal to the difference between such average prices in the London Gazette, and ninety shillings per quarter of wheat, or barrel of flour respectively.

"Resolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that whenever the current price of Rice, imported into this Kingdom (to be ascertained by the prices in the London Market) shall be less than one pound and fifteen shillings per hundred weight, there shall be given, on every one hundred weight of Rice imported into Great Britain before the first day of October, 1800, a Bounty equal to the difference between such average price and one pound fifteen shillings.

"Resolved, That it is the opinion of this committee, that the duties now payable on Sweden herrings, dried or cured, imported into this kingdom, do cease and determine.

"Ordered, That the chairman be directed to move the house, that leave be given to bring in a bill to encourage the cultivation of potatoes on waste lands, for a time to be limited.

"Ordered, That the chairman be directed to move the house, that leave be given to bring in a bill to explain and amend an act made in the 36th year of the reign of his present majesty, intituled, "An act for the better regulation of mills."

"Ordered, That the chairman be directed to move the house, that leave be given to bring in a bill for better regulating the price and assize of bread.

"Ordered, That the chairman be directed to move the house, that leave be given to bring in a bill to prohibit, for a time to be limited, the use of wheat in making starch.

"Very little has been done in the sale of Wheat, Flour, or Rice lately, in consequence of the holders insisting on high prices, and the buyers acting under the expectation of a decline; and from these causes the annexed should be considered as a quotation of the nominal, rather than the real prices.

"Wheat	90s—92s	per 70lbs.
"Flour superfine	78s—80s	per barrel.
fine	74s—76s	ditto.
"Rice	45s—46s	per cwt.

"Since writing the preceding, bills for allowing the bounties have been brought into the house of commons, have passed the first, and are ordered for the second reading."
